

Musically Speaking

Stuart Underwood, Minister of Music

Thanks to Brody Baker and Becky for a great job on our 4-handed piano for "How Great Thou Art" as our offertory. The Adult Choir, with soloist Samuel Bullock, never sounded better on their anthem "What Kind of Man Is This". Thanks to Brody and Samuel for sharing your talents!

This Sunday Becky Stogsdill and Laura Lee Wesley will be playing our offertory. The Adult Choir will be singing an arrangement of Laura Story's "Blessings", with soloist Rachael Yaden.

Have a great week!
Stuart

From the Pastor

I am so grateful for another awesome neighborhood cookout at Dix River this past Sunday evening! We had about 140 people total show up for some good food and great fellowship. The best part of the evening is that somewhere between 30 and 40 of the people were from Dix River and not Stanford Baptist. That is the reason we have been doing these neighborhood cookouts. What a great opportunity we now have in Oakwood and Dix River to reach the people who live just down the road!

We also began our 40 Days of Prayer emphasis this past Sunday morning. Just to recap, we will spend the next 40 days in unified prayer for ourselves and our church. We know prayer to be a powerful tool in our lives because it connects us directly with God, Himself. If we are to be the church that God desires for us to be, then we must be committed to prayer so that we can always be following His leadership. During these 40 days, we will have short devotions pop up on our church Facebook page each morning at 9am, along with a scripture to read and a guide to help us pray each day. On Sundays, we come together to study God's Word and pray as well. This will be a great time of unity and vision for our church! We always want to be sure we are following the leadership of God in our own lives and in the life of Stanford Baptist Church.

Looking forward to praying along with you over these 40 days!

Bro. Justin
